THE WASHOE PRIMARIES.

They Threaten to be Red-hot Today.

Everything points to a red-hot primary in Reno today. There are two wings on the Republican party, one led by Tom Fitch and C. C. Powning and the other by Frank Newlands and Wm. Thompson.

The fight is between two bitter factions and will be a rusher from the rising of the sun to the going down of the same. Fitch has been a long time an open candidate for Congress and up to very recently Newlands has shown no special systoms of desiring the place. The Journal of yesterday morning, however, contains a correspondence between leading citizens of Washoe and Mr. Newlands. They invite him to run for Congress or the Governorship and he replies as follows:

RENO, Nevada, Aug 12, 1890.

L. D. Folsom and Others, Reno Nevada;

GENTLEMEN: Your letter of the 9th inst. suggesting that my name has been mentioned in connection with the gubernatorial as well as the Congressional nomination, and requesting me to state whether I would be a candidate for either position, has been received.

It would be impossible for me to accept the gubernatorial nomination if tendered. The investments of the estate of which I am Trustee require my presence in Washington some months in each year.

As to the Membership in Congress, I could attend to its duties without jeopardizing the interests in my charge. Indeed I can see how this office could enlarge my usefulness in measures already inaugurated for the development of the State. But the claim of the present incumbent, my limited residence in the State, and my short affiliation with the Republican party, present considerations of delicacy and embarrassment, which preclude a personal canvass for the nomination, and could only yield to a personal demand for my services, which, under the circumstances, I could hardly expect.

Besides, unless the Republican party places itself as to measures in line with the aspirations of Nevada for a larger development and the economic reforms which the existing necessities demand, and also requires of its nominees, both Federal and State, a demonstration of confidence in the future of the State, and of a determination to join in the solution of the problems relating to water storage, irrigation, colonization and the promotion of the varied industries, I would prefer to remain in private station, continuing merely the discharge of the quasi-public duties inspired by an interest in measures rather than in politics.

Should the convention about to assemble be one of deliberation as to the measures which will advance the prosperity of Nevada and the men who will best secure it, I will then consider whether conditions will warrant my candidacy.

Thanking you, gentlemen, for the high compliment which your letter conveys, I remain, Very Sincerely Yours,

FRANCIS G. NEWLANDS.

As Mr. Newlands has repeatedly refused to run for Congress. If Mr. Bartine wanted a second term, his acceptance of a proposition to run for Congress is taken to mean that Mr. Bartine will be appointed U. S. District Judge. It was rumored yesterday that the appointment had been tendered him and another rumor was to the effect that he would be placed on the State ticket as Supreme Judge.

The air gets a little thicker with rumors every day and no one seems to know the facts. In Washoe both sides claim a dead thing but as a matter of fact it is regarded as a pretty even fight in Reno and that it will be a red-hot one no one doubts.
